

Shell Keys

National Wildlife Refuge

Howard Poitevint, Project Leader
Shell Keys NWR
Southeast Louisiana Refuges
1010 Gause Boulevard, Bldg. 936
Slidell, LA 70814
Phone: 504/646 7555
Fax: 504/646 7588
E-mail: r4rw_la.sel@fws.gov

Refuge Facts

- Established: 1907.
- Acres: five-seven.
- Located in Iberia Parish, LA.
- Location: The refuge is located in the offshore waters to the west of the Atchafalaya River Delta, south of Marsh Island Wildlife Management Area.

Natural History

Refuge is composed of a few small shell spits or islands that are continually being built up and then eroded and moved by storm events. Concentrations of shorebirds and colonial sea birds.

Refuge Objectives

By executive order, the refuge was "... reserved and set apart as a reserve and breeding ground for native birds."

Questions and Answers

Where is the refuge and how can I access it?

The refuge is south of Marsh Island and is accessible only by boat.

What is available at the refuge?

The refuge is a bird sanctuary and is closed to all public use.